Cops evict hawkers near Sammelana venue

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (US&RKB)- Even as the Sammelana will conclude this evening, Police along with MCC's 'Abhaya' team evicted several hawkers in the vicinity of Maharaja's College Grounds here this morning.

The registered stall owners at the Sammelana had complained about the hawkers who were selling various items at discounted price which was hampering their business.

Added to that the alleged bomb threat letter yesterday had probably alerted the Police.

When the hawkers were being evicted by force, Police had to resort to a mild lathi charge.

However, onlookers wondered how Police permitted hawkers to conduct business for the past two days.

DIVINE DRUG: Two unemployed youths, Bablu and Buntu, discussing their future.

Bablu: No one is offering us a job because everyone says we're useless. I don't know what we'll do.

Buntu: I know what we'll do – we'll become drug dealers.

Bablu: Drug dealers? But isn't dealing in drugs illegal?

Buntu: Don't worry. The drug I want us to deal in isn't illegal. In fact, it's the most legal – and, indeed, highly commendable.

Bablu: Most legal? Highly commendable? Since when did they make heroin legal, let alone highly commendable?

Buntu: Oof, oh! I'm not talking about heroin.

Bablu: OK, then. Not heroin. So when did they make cocaine, crack, opium, meths, ganja, any or all of them legal and highly commendable?

Buntu: Don't be such a gaddha. I'm not talking about any of those things.

Bablu: Then what drug are you talking about?

Buntu: The drug I'm talking about is by far the strongest drug in the world – far stronger than any of those things you named – and it's also the most profitable drug to deal in.

Bablu: And the sarkar won't punish us for dealing in this strongest and most profitable drug?

Buntu: Punish us? Are you kidding? Far from punishing us, the sarkar will reward us for dealing in this drug.

Bablu: Reward us? How reward us?

Buntu: Reward us by giving us vast tracts of land for free, and heaping public praise and honours on us. And all the netas will line up to take selfies of themselves with us, and seek our help in winning elections. We'll have millions of fans and be more popular than the Big B and MSD rolled into one. Indeed, even they might want to take selfies with us.

Bablu: Wow. That's some ju-ju of a drug. What's is it?

Buntu: It's the most powerful dope of all because it turns people into dopes. The people who peddle it are called Godmen and what they peddle is called religion… — Jug Suraiya in The Times of India.

Seconds with Celebrities !

Beijing: A new Chinese app called Miao A or "Seconds" allows celebrities and socialites to sell their time to fans, by the second. The unusual service has recently grabs the attention of investors to buy and trade celebrity time, causing the app to operate as an illegal stock exchange. The Beijing-based app describes itself as the first time-trading platform that helps fans get access to their favourite celebs. The company buys time in bulk from stars or their agents and then sells it in one-second packets to the public. The platform charges a 3% service fee on all exchanges, and all transactions managed through the Chinese online payment platform NetEase. China's growing fan economy is the primary driver of Miao A, as every second can be cashed in for celebrity interactions. The available content includes online chat, voice, social media replies, video recordings and even face to face meetings. According to a counter on the Miao A homepage, over 3 million celebrity seconds have been purchased so far.

Story of a heart broken dog !

Bogotá: A poor dog has reportedly "died of a broken heart" after being abandoned by her owner at an airport in Colombia. She spent the last month of her life wandering around the airport in search of her master and eventually stopped eating as a result of severe depression.

The distressed dog, named Nube Viajera (Traveling Cloud) by the veterinarians, who rescued her from Palonegro airport, near Bucaramanga, and looked after her until the very end, but after a month of wandering around sniffing passengers and refusing to accept food and water, she had become so weak that she was barely able to stand. Witnesses said that in the last days of her life, the animal gave up her daily search and crawled into an isolated corner, refusing food from the passengers offered her. She was finally taken to a veterinarian clinic after someone alerted the Friends of Animals and Nature Foundation of Bucaramanga, but despite their best efforts, she died within 48 hours of being rescued.

VOICE OF THE READER

M.G. Road needs attention

Sir,

Of late, we find that the M.G. Road (Vani Vilasa Road), especially the stretch between Madhava Rao Circle (VV Market Circle) and the Radisson Blu Hotel, is left uncleaned for days together leaving the whole area in a state of unhealthy and ugly atmosphere besides unbearable stench.

Added to the left-overs of the daily shandy, behind the Exhibition, debris of all sorts are just dumped here and it is there for everybody to see. The water-logging on the right side of the road due to the recent heavy rains is yet to dry up and consequently this has become a very good ground for mosquito breeding.

If a main road in the heart of the city is left in such a state, it may be difficult to regain the CLEAN CITY tag this time also. May I request the MCC authorities to look into this and take prompt action?

'Kannadigas lack self-respect'

Former PM felicitates achievers at Sammelana

Former PM H.D. Deve Gowda seen with the achievers in various fields who were felicitated during the Kannada Sammelana at Maharaja's College Grounds here yesterday as Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Dr. Manu Baligar and others look on.

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (SBD&DM) - Stating that Kannadigas lacked self-respect and that nobody should feel disappointed over his remark, former PM H.D. Deve Gowda stressed on the need for a regional party to address the problems faced by the State.

He was speaking at the 83rd Akhila Bharata Kannada Sahitya Sammelana being held at Maharaja's College Grounds here yesterday.

Pointing out that Tamil Nadu has been electing only regional parties and many a times even controlling the Union Government, Deve Gowda reiterated the importance of a regional party for the State.

Bemoaning the present situation in the country with growing religious intolerance rampant across the country, Deve Gowda said that there were more serious issues to be addressed rather than raking up unnecessary controversies.

Recalling his visits to Chamundi Hill and other shrines across the country, the former PM said that he would not deviate from the principles and ideologies that he believes.

Noting that as a firm believer of God, he was reading 'Shiva Purana' book when Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Manu Baligar came to his house to invite him for the Sammelana, Deve Gowda said he has high regards for all those who fought for Kannada land and language.

Veteran writer Go. Ru. Channabasappa, who also spoke, recalled the day when H.D. Deve Gowda as Chief Minister had extended Rs. 50,000 towards the medical expanses of Rashtrakavi Late G.S. Shivarudrappa who had undergone surgery.

More than 60 personalities from different fields who have made significant contribution to the State were felicitated on the occasion.

Legislative Council Deputy Chairman Marithibbegowda, MLA N.H. Konaraddi, Sammelana President Chandrashekhar Patil, Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Dr. Manu Baligar, Kannada Sahitya Parishat District President Dr. Y.D. Rajanna and others were present.

Tanveer Sait hits back at Champa, Baragur

Says he is Kannadiga till last breath

Tanveer Sait

Mysuru, Nov. 26 - Minister for Primary and Secondary Education Tanveer Sait has expressed disappointment over criticism by the past and present Presidents of Kannada Sahitya Sammelana — Baragur Ramachandrappa and Chandrashekar Patil.

He was speaking at a technical session on 'Kannada Samshodhane Mathu Vimarshe' held yesterday as part of the 83rd Akhila Bharata Kannada Sahitya Sammelana being held in city.

Reacting to the appeal by Writer Chandrashekar Patil (Champa), the President of the Sammelana, to Siddharamaiah to drop him (Sait) or at least change his portfolio as he was not good enough as the Education Minister, Sait said his commitment to Kannada is unquestionable and added that he had a lot of pride in the language.

He said he had a lot of respect for Champa, but added that the latter should not have used the august forum of the Sammelana to level personal criticism against him. "I respect the right to freedom of expression. But Chief Minister Siddharamaiah would decide whether to retain me in the Cabinet or not," he said.

"Champa has said that my attitude is not pro-Kannada. I need not learn about Kannada from anybody. I am a Kannadiga till my last breath," he added.

President of the previous Sammelana Prof. Baragur Ramachandrappa, who is also the Chairman of the Text Book Revision Committee, had also expressed displeasure with Sait for not responding to his demand for a 'Naada Patya' (State syllabus).

Sait said, "I am satisfied with my achievements and contributions as Minister so far. Yesterday, I could not attend the inaugural function of the Sammelana as I was expected to be present in the Assembly Session in view of the expected tabling of a Private Bill to make it compulsory for children of government officials and employees to attend government schools."

He said that the government is keen to bring changes in Karnataka Education Act and Law Department's opinion is awaited. "I am ready for the discussion on my efforts and the government's commitment for the development of Kannada," he added.

A team of ten doctors and staff were rendering free medical aid daily from 8 am to 8 pm.

The six-bed temporary hospital also had an Out Patient wing, an Emergency Care Section, a women's wing, a laboratory and a dispensary.

Three ambulances too were stationed for any emergency. Most of the people were treated for fever, headache, hyper tension, diabetes and gastric problems, according to medical officer Dr. S. Somashekar.

Khadi and Gramodyog Utsav at J.K. Grounds

Making a life out of Bamboos

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (SV)- Creating handmade crafts and commodities requires skills, patience and practice. One such man happens to be sitting at the ongoing Khadi and Gramodyog Utsav at the J.K. Grounds in Mysuru, as he continuously prepares craft items out of bamboo and cane and sells it to his customers.

With a small stall set up at the Utsav, he displays his skills as he scrapes and cuts the canes and bamboos to eventually make it a well-designed product.

Chiksiddaiah, hailing from Mamballi, Yelandur taluk, Chamarajanagar district, is an expert in making baskets and lamps out of bamboos. At his stall, he has prepared key chains, pen stands, lamp shades, baskets, flower vase, letter-box, bangles, hair clip, interior decoration items, fruit bowl, boats, trays, plates, earrings, necklace, etc. all made out of either bamboo or cane. The stripes of canes are interlocked and give a beautiful end product.

He uses specific tools, various knives, and a drilling machine to prepare the desired products out of bamboos. He patiently keeps scraping the cane and polishing it and gives it a shape to get the desired finished product.

He says, "I use a small flame burner also; people love that dark patch of burnt colour on the cane and bamboo that acts as a design and people tend to buy that often. So I give it a tinge of dark patch after I finish the product."

Chiksiddaiah also conducts training camps and classes for those who are keen to learn this art of making items from bamboos and canes. His journey has been a bumpy ride. Though his family followed their traditional occupation of making baskets from bamboos, Chiksiddaiah used to work as an employee in the sugar factory at Kunthur, Kollegal. But the factory was shut down due to some reasons, and Chiksiddaiah had the fear of survival staring in his eyes. It was then that he resorted towards making things out of bamboos. Since then, he has been able to make an average earning for himself and his family.

He credited two people who changed his life. He says, "I was lacking motivation in my life, but A.C. Lakshman, former Secretary to Government of Karnataka and Dr. K.H. Vinaya Kumar, Chief Conservator of Forests, Bengaluru, saw the potential in me and encouraged me to go ahead in life by practicing my skills in making things out of bamboos; and what I'm today is all because of their words and constant motivation."

The Utsav at J.K. Grounds, open between 10.30 am - 8.30 pm, will conclude on Dec.4.

The Heavenly Earthen Pots

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (SV)- The art of pottery is something well-appreciated by people from various walks of life, evoking a sense of curiosity on how commodities are prepared with just a lump of mud.

In the ongoing Khadi Utsav, a garland of appreciation is bestowed from the visitors on a potter who keeps spinning the wheel and makes beautiful items from mud and clay.

Thimma Shetty has been a potter since the last 30 years and his pottery is well-known in Mysuru city. He has setup his stall at the ongoing Khadi Utsav, and the visitors swell around him as he creates magic with mud just with his bare hands.

Thimma Shetty hails from Doora village in Mysuru district and loves doing pottery since his early years. He also shares the same name with his father (Thimma Shetty).

At his stall, he sells flower pots, flower vases, pots for kitchen, water storage pots, pen stands, bowls, show-pieces, elephant statues, etc.

Though people swell around his shop, most of them just appreciate his talent and enjoy his demonstration of pottery but more than often don't tend to buy them. Even though the prices of the bowls are as low as Rs.30, most visitors are just mere spectators. But this has not put him on the back foot, instead he works hard and indulges himself in pottery and manages to make a living.

He ensures to set up stalls like this in various Utsavs, or exhibitions where there would be a large inflow of customers and a selling potential.

He is also seen outside Nanjaraja Bahadur Choultry whenever any expo is organised.

His hands definitely have a magic of creativity as he makes beautiful borders and designs on the pots. The old man, with a long stick in his hands, keeps the wheel spinning and uses it as a base for his pottery-making.

If pottery is an art that is difficult to master, Thimma Shetty is the Picasso of it.

The Khadi Utsav at the J.K. Grounds will conclude on December 4.

Ram temple in Ayodhya by next Deepavali: Dr. Subramanian Swamy

Rajya Sabha MP Dr. Subramanian Swamy is seen inaugurating the public meeting on "Ram Mandir - Way Forward" organised by Virat Hindustan Sangam (VHS) at Rajendra Kalamandira on Ramanuja Road in city last evening as (from left) Karnataka Hotel Owners Association President M. Rajendra, actress Malavika Avinash, MP Pratap Simha, VHS National General Secretary Jagdish Shetty, Karnataka Unit President Nikunj Shah, Advocate P.D. Medappa, former Minister S.A. Ramdas and VHS General Secretary Lohitt V. Urs look on.

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (YDS&BCT)- Senior BJP leader and Rajya Sabha member Dr. Subramanian Swamy has said construction of the proposed Ram temple in Ayodhya will commence soon and it will be ready to receive devotees by next Deepavali. He was addressing a public meeting on "Ram Mandir - Way Forward" organised by Virat Hindustan Sangam (VHS) at Rajendra Kalamandira in city yesterday.

"Construction of the temple is likely to begin sooner than later. For electoral success it is essential that the ideology of Hindutva is never lost sight of," he said, adding that the Ram temple is the wish of the entire Nation.

The temple issue will be resolved by the Supreme Court in three months and the judgement will be in favour of building a temple in Ayodhya, he claimed. The construction of a Ram temple was a matter of faith for Hindus and the community had every right to build it without further delay, he added.

"Rajiv Gandhi was the only true Hindu leader in the Congress and he wanted from the core of his heart that a Ram temple is built at Ayodhya," he said.

He said the minority community should forsake its claim over the disputed site, and co-operate with Ram devotees in constructing the temple. "We will give them some space to construct a mosque on the other side of the Sarayu River in Ayodhya," the MP added.

Dr. Swamy cited a 2003 geological survey report placed before the Allahabad High Court to buttress his claim that Lord Ram was born on the disputed site. "Hence, the temple will be constructed on that very spot while the mosque can be set up elsewhere," he said.

The BJP leader told the gathering that the Union government has assured him that it would "not touch" the ancient Ram Sethu or Adam's Bridge in implementation of the Sethusamudram Ship Channel Project.

"The Sethusamudram shipping channel project has been facing protests from political parties, environmentalists and several Hindu religious groups. The mythological Ram Sethu is a continuous stretch of limestone shoals that runs from Pamban Island near Rameswaram in South India to Mannar Island off the northern coast of Sri Lanka. The Ram Sethu must be protected and promoted as a tourist spot," he said.

Did Rama study engineering to build Ram Sethu?

Interspersing his speech with interesting tidbits, Dr. Subramanian Swamy had the audience in splits. Among them was an interesting incident on former Tamil Nadu Chief Minster M. Karunanidhi.

Narrating the incident, Dr. Swamy said, "When I went to Supreme Court against the Sethusamudram project, Karunanidhi telephoned me and asked me if Rama studied engineering to build a Ram Sethu."

"The very next day, Karunanidhi fell ill and was admitted to Ramachandra Hospital. I called him and asked whether Rama studied MBBS," Dr. Swamy said, sending the audience into peals of laughter.

Amidst uproar, Police escort Prof. Bhagawan out of seminar

Writer's remarks on Lord Ram irks audience; divided listeners indulge in war of words

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (PM&BCT)- Writer Prof. K.S. Bhagawan was escorted out of a seminar amidst heavy Police security while another thinker was forced to cut short his address after the audience found their speeches discursive and aimed at hurting religious sentiments and tweaking mythology.

Prof. Bhagawan was speaking at a technical session on 'Neglected Sections of People' at Maharaja's College Centenary Hall yesterday.

Referring to the renewed demand for building a Ram temple at Ayodhya during the Dharma Sansad held at Udupi, Prof. Bhagawan said, "There was a discussion on building a temple for Ram. It is not fair to build a temple as Ram has a bloody history of butchering many people. The motive behind organising such meets is deliberate." He went on to say that building a temple amounts to encouraging caste system.

"The Seers of various religious institutions are discussing religion and construction of Ram Mandir while we are discussing the problems of neglected people and the downtrodden in the society, here," he said and added "The media is also giving wider coverage to the Dharma Sansad, compared to the Kannada Sammelana. They all worship Rama, who sent his pregnant wife to the forest. Rama is not God. The history of India is a bundle of lies. Governments are also trying to introduce these lies in school curriculum. It is high time people wake up and rebel against the Seers and false historians, who have been fooling them since ages. All those people who worship Rama are slaves."

Writer Prof. K.S. Bhagawan is seen addressing a seminar on 'Neglected Sections of People' held as part of the 83rd Akhila Bharata Kannada Sahitya Sammelana in city yesterday as Women activist Dr. Meenakshi Bali and others look on.

At this point, a man sitting in the balcony raised objection saying he had come to the session only to listen to his thoughts on the topic and not to hear any opinions on Ram. "Don't deviate from the topic," he warned Prof. Bhagawan.

An unfazed Bhagawan asked him to leave the hall if he was not okay with his thoughts.

As Prof. Bhagawan continued his tirade, the audience shouted at him for digressing. Bhagawan too received support from the audience and the two divided groups indulged in a war of words. While Prof. Bhagawan questioned his critics about their qualification and what they have read, the latter shouted at Bhagawan and his supporters and demanded withdrawal of his statements. When the situation was going out of control, Police intervened and escorted Bhagawan to his car and sent him away.

Siddaswamy forced to end speech

Earlier, thinker Siddaswamy was forced to abruptly end his address after he chose to 'correct' what he claimed to have been distorted in the legend related to demon Mahishasura. Siddaswamy, who described the demon king as a Buddhist, disputed the mythological tale that he was killed by Chamundeshwari.

Mahishasura story is not related to Mysuru as it was based in Vindhya Hills, he claimed. This led to chaos and commotion for some time as a section of audience warned him against digressing from the topic. When there was no sign of the agitated audience relenting, Siddaswamy cut short his speech and returned to his chair.

Rare display of over 50,000 literary archives

M.A. Venkatesh is seen explaining about his collections.

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (US)- The ongoing Kannada Literary Meet in city has another attraction - a huge collection of over 50,000 copies of old Kannada newspapers and magazines dating back beyond 50 years.

The person behind such a rare collection is M.A. Venkatesh the 7th generation progeny of Narayana Iyengar, a prominent person associated with Mysore Maharajas.

The collection includes the first prints of 'Prajavani,' 'Janapragathi', 'Menaka,' 'Chitratara,' 'Koravanji,' 'Naguvananda,' 'Prajamatha,' 'Sudha' and 'Taranga' along with paper cuttings of important articles on artistes, littérateurs, sports, science, medicine, religion, politics, movies and many more topics.

This is a unique collection especially for literary buffs and journalism students who can have a glimpse of design of papers then and the language used. However the exhibits are not for sale.

Venkatesh presently resides at Jayanagar in Bengaluru with his son while his daughter is a resident of Gokulam here. Venkatesh was said to have got in touch with G. Narayana, President of Kannada Sahitya Parishat in 1960 and began his collection of important articles. He has a collection of over 450 articles of Dr. Shivaram Karanth and 350 articles of Masti Venkatesh Iyengar. Venkatesh has participated in over 26 Kannada Sahitya Sammelanas and has organised about 600 exhibitions of his rare collections.

Venkatesh is not just a collector of articles and news papers but also a good writer himself. His works include 'Itta Hejje, Patta Shrama,' 'Dasha Dikkugala Mahan Kalavaidru,' and 'Mysore Nakshatragalu'.' He has also won many awards including Kannada Sahitya Koota's Rajyotsava award and 'Karnataka Kalajyoti' award instituted by Sir M. Dr. Subramanian Swamy assures Autonomy

"Kodavas have made significant contributions and have given its sons to the Defence forces who rose to become exemplary officers. Kodavas have participated in freedom struggle and have opposed Emergency. I see no reason why Kodavas should not get autonomy," Dr. Swamy said.

Mentioning Gorkha struggle for autonomy, he said that once Kodagu is declared autonomous, Kodavas will have the rights to govern themselves and safeguard their race, community, traditions and customs. "Now I see black money flowing into Kodagu as it is a wonderful place. People like former Finance Minister P. Chidambaram own properties here. If you get autonomy, your land will be saved from outsiders and black money hoarders and you will have every right on your property," he said.

Continuing, the Rajya Sabha MP said that an Autonomous Council was an immediate priority for Kodagu. "Smaller states are better governed and we have seen many examples. I don't mean that you should separate from Karnataka. Remain in Karnataka and get the autonomous status. You, as a special race, have to maintain a distinct identity so that you can determine your own future. ," he said. Important resolutions on Codava Land Autonomy and allied subjects were passed on the occasion.

Arriving at Madikeri this morning after an overnight stay at Hotel President in Mysuru after addressing a public meeting on "Ram Mandir – Way Forward" at Rajendra Kalamandira on Ramanuja Road, Dr. Subramanian Swamy headed to a hotel where CNC members assisted him to wear the Kodava traditional dress. He was brought to the Gandhi Maidan in the open jeep and while he cut banana stems as part of Kodava tradition, Jagdish Shetty fired in the air, signalling the beginning of the Codava National Day.

After participating at the CNC event, Dr. Subramanian Swamy was scheduled to arrive in Mysuru by road and take a flight to Chennai from Mysore Airport this evening.

Heavy rush on last day of Sammelana

The meeting was chaired by Manu Baligar. However, the venue of the 84th Kannada literary meet will be announced officially at the valedictory this evening.

Speaking to press persons after the meeting, Manu Baligar said Dharwad, Haveri, Ballari, Uttara Kannada, Kolar and Bijapur were the contenders for hosting the 84th meet. But ultimately Dharwad was chosen as the venue to host the 84th Kannada Sahitya Sammelana, he said. Dharwad, the home town of renowned poet Da.Ra. Bendre, will be hosting the meet after a gap of 60 years.

'Women need due recognition in judiciary'

Mysuru, Nov.26(US&PM)- On the concluding day of the Kannada Sahitya Sammelana, a seminar on 'Janapara Chaluvaligalu' (Pro-People Movements) was held at Maharaja's College Centenary Hall here this morning.

Delivering the keynote address, Ravi Verma Kumar, former Chairman, Karnataka State Backward Class Commission referring to prominence for women regretted that no women had occupied the post of Chief Justice of Supreme court and generalised that women's role in judiciary should be given due importance.

He recalled that the Indian Constitution took the final shape in 1949 and accepted on Jan. 26, 1950.

Speaking on river rows, he asked Raitha Sanghas to evolve at a feasible solution instead of staging a protest whenever a judgement is released.

He took strong objection to moral policing which was not constitutional.

Chamarasa Malipatil spoke on 'Farmers' movement,' R.N. Chandrashekar on 'Kannada Movement,' CITU President S. Varalakshmi on 'Labour Movement' and Dr.L.G. Meera on 'Women's Movement.'

'Study report on sex workers still lying under wraps'

Mysuru, Nov. 26 (US&PM)- "The government should give a serious thought to implement the recommendations put forward by the Study Committee constituted by the government to look into the problems of sex workers so that the transgenders and others were rescued from the flesh trade racket," said Dr. Meenakshi Bali, Committee member and women Activist.

Meenakshi

She was speaking at a seminar on 'Neglected Communities' as part of the Kannada Sahitya Sammelana at Maharaja's College Centenary Hall here yesterday.

Dr. Meenakshi Bali recalled that the State Government had constituted the Study Committee last year headed by Jayamala but regretted that despite submitting the report, the government had remained silent. She pointed out that the flesh trade racket included women, children, transgenders and men too. She further said that the committee had done extensive study in 30 districts unearthing a few cruel incidents. She regretted that mentally challenged women were easily pushed to flesh trade which was inhuman. She however mentioned that the study committee could not access the hi-tech flash trade racket still flourishing in cities.

Indian Super League

Mumbai City downs Goa 2-1 in a keenly contested tie

Mumbai, Nov. 26- Mumbai City scored a well-earned 2-1 win over FC Goa 2-1 in the ISL league tie played at Mumbai on Saturday. Everton and Thiago found the target for Mumbai City, while Manuel Jesus pulled one back for the visitor.

FC Goa captain Lakmikant Kattimani, under the bar, let his team down with a slip-up to concede the first goal against an aggressive Mumbai City FC. He got beaten for the second time and the hosts celebrated a 2-1 win at home.

Everton brought the crowd to its feet, hovering around the visitor's goalkeeper and the latter got into position for a long clearance, and charged towards the ball and as the FC Goa skipper swung his leg back and tried to block the ball which bounced in.

Six minutes later, FC Goa had a goal disallowed for half-side. Manuel Jesus brought the match back to life with the equaliser for the visitor out of the blue. Ferran Corominas threaded a pass down the middle to his teammate to shoot home on the turn.

Mumbai City went ahead again through Thiago in the 88th minute to seal the victory. Arminder under the Mumbai City bar had a good game and effected two good saves for his team.

Kannada Development Authority (KDA) Chairman Prof. S.G. Siddaramaiah (second from right), Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Dr. Manu Baligar and other dignitaries seen during the session on 'Present Day Challenges in Education,' at the Kannada Sahitya Sammelana at Maharaja's College Grounds here on Friday.

Mysuru, Nov.26 (SBD&DM)- Observing that education be nationalised in accordance with the country's multi-cultural character, Kannada Development Authority (KDA) Chairman Prof. S.G. Siddaramaiah has deplored the efforts to promote English, Hindi and Sanskrit in the country at the cost of regional languages.

He was speaking at the session on 'Present Day Challenges in Education' at the 83rd Akhila Bharata Kannada Sahitya Sammelana at Maharaja's College grounds here on Friday.

Alleging that the Centre is thrusting English, Hindi and Sanskrit through Kendriya Vidyalayas, he reiterated that nationalisation of education based on federal structure and promotion of regional languages.

Expressing concern over the reported neglect of RTE children in some schools, he said that such a tendency to discriminate children will have a lasting impact on the young minds.

Calling for equal educational opportunities for everyone irrespective of their financial status, he urged the government to repair schools which are in bad shape and also to maintain them regularly.

Alleging that some private educational institutions have turned education into business, he regretted that a few Mutts too have started to follow this trend.

Urging the Government to allot more funds for primary education, he stressed on the need for teachers and education officers to introspect on why parents are opting for private schools.

Former Education Department official T.M. Kumar who spoke on the topic 'Kannada Losing its Significance in Primary Education' said that primary education had not been a priority in the country since decades.

Noting that RTE has been of little help in promoting primary education, Kumar said that he supported veteran littérateur Devanur Mahadeva's call for nationalisation of school education.

Dr. Vishnukanth Chatapalli who spoke on the topic 'Kannada Medium and Employment Opportunities,' emphasised on teaching computers at primary education level.

Underlining the need for imparting skills to children apart from enhancing their learning ability, he called for preparing the children at an early stage itself for meeting future challenges.

He further said that education should also focus on social issues and challenges.

'Kannada Sahitya Parishat has lost its autonomy'

'Mukhyamantri' Chandru

Mysuru, Nov.26 - Maintaining that Kannada Sahitya Parishat has lost its autonomy after falling into the grip of the Government, actor 'Mukhyamantri' Chandru, who is also the past Chairman of Kannada Development Authority (KDA), said that the ongoing Kannada Literary Meet in city has got politicised.

Speaking to SOM over phone, Chandru opined that the Akhila Bharata Kannada Sahitya Sammelana seems to have forgotten its objective with politicisation of the meet.

Expressing concern over possible misuse of funds granted by the Government for the literary meet, he said that in the past Sahitya Sammelanas were purposeful, even without Government funding.

Expressing displeasure over politicians appearing in large numbers on the dais, Chandru said the entire event seemed more like a political gathering rather than the literary meet.

Pointing out that he would however thank the Chief Minister for highlighting Kannada issues during his (CM) speech, he appealed the CM to organise the Akhila Bharata Kannada Sammelana only once in three years.

Accusing the Kannada Sahitya Parishat of appeasing the Government for funds, he alleged that the ongoing meet does not seem to care for anyone.

Alleging lack of co-ordination between the organisers and the District Administration, he asserted that such meets do not contribute much for the development of land and language.

Most of the resolutions taken in the past meets have not been implemented he said and reiterated that it would be better to hold such meets once in three years.

Taking exception to the meet Chairman Prof. Chandrashekar Patil's (Champa) political rhetoric in his (Champa) speech, Chandru said Patil may have made such speech only to please the Chief Minister.

'Media not free from shadow of corruption'

Senior journalist H.R. Ranganath speaking at a seminar on 'Media: Future Challenges' at the 83rd Akhila Bharata Kannada Sahitya Sammelana, here on Friday as other dignitaries on the dais look on.

Mysuru, Nov.26 (NNN) - "Corruption questions the very integrity and credibility of a person and even media is not free from the shadow of corruption," said senior journalist H.R. Ranganath rather curiously.

Delivering the keynote address at a seminar on 'Media: Future Challenges' at the 83rd Akhila Bharata Kannada Sahitya Sammelana, here on Friday, he said that along with drawing boundaries for the profession, one should also draw the same boundaries in one's life. It is the responsibility of every journalist to cultivate this otherwise, the confidence that people have in the journalists will nosedive. If the media falters or loses its way, then democratic setup will also suffer, he added.

Journalist N. Ravishankar speaking on the subject 'Social Media' said that on a couple of occasions it is unfortunate to see the social media questioning the morality of Kannadigas. It looks like the growth of Kannada is suffering because of the flippant way certain Kannada words are used in social media. Social media cannot replace regular media, he added.

Speaking on the subject 'Print Media,' journalist N. Udayakumar said credibility of the media is a big challenge. The way technology is changing day-by-day, sometimes pose as big questions. TV viewers and internet users are increasing and majority of the newspapers have still not reached the limits of its circulation.

Senior journalist Thimmappa Bhat who presided over the seminar said that media is considered as the fourth pillar of democracy. The media has not got any sort of Constitutional validity until now. The confidence reposed by the people from the beginning is all that it has as its capital. Hence, if media and democracy have to be alive and kicking, they cannot be unidirectional, he argued.

A new Tribunal alone can resolve Cauvery row: Capt. Raja Rao

Mysuru, Nov.26 (PM&DM)- Retired Engineer Capt. Raja Rao has asserted that setting up of a new tribunal seems to be the best solution for ending the Cauvery row.

He was speaking on the topic 'Cauvery Row: Recent Developments' at a seminar on 'Karnataka Irrigation' organised as part of the ongoing Kannada Sahitya Sammelana at Maharaja's College Centenary Hall here yesterday.

Maintaining that excess Cauvery water has been released to Tamil Nadu over the years, Capt. Raja Rao said setting up of a new tribunal will help in amicably settling the row between Karnataka and Tamil Nadu over sharing of Cauvery water.

Accusing the current tribunal of giving a raw deal to Karnataka, he said that the Tribunal's Order asking Karnataka to release water to TN just a week after TN's appeal, was not correct.

Senior farmer activist Prof. Narasimhappa who spoke on the topic 'The Pros and Cons of Yettinahole Project,' said that the project was not politically driven.

Pointing out that the project helps lakhs of farmers in dry districts such as Chikkaballapur and Kolar, Prof. Narasimhappa maintained that the opposition to Yettinahole project was politically motivated.

Navalgund JD(S) MLA N.H. Konaraddi who spoke on the topic 'Mahadayi Kalasa Banduri-Row and Solution,' demanded that the literary meet pass a resolution on withdrawing cases against farmers who took part in Mahadayi Kalasa Banduri agitation. HC issues stay on criminal action against Kodagu DC

Dr. Richard

Bengaluru, Nov. 26 - The Karnataka High Court has stayed it's orders regarding filing an FIR and initiation departmental proceedings against the Kodagu Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. Richard Vincent D'Souza in a property dispute matter. Justice Vineet Kothari was hearing a revision petition filed by the DC seeking a recall of the order passed by the High Court on Thursday.

The High Court had directed the Registrar of Vigilance to file a FIR against the DC for passing two divergent orders on the same day to conflicting parties.

The Court had also directed the Chief Secretary to initiate Departmental proceedings against the Deputy Commissioner with regard to this.

While appearing before the Court, Kodagu DC Dr. Richard Vincent D'Souza said that he has no intention of mala fide (with intent to deceive) in this case. He stated that he had passed two orders on two different dates.

However, he had mentioned the date of the first order on the second order. He also took responsibility of his mistake. He stated that he was under the impression that the date of the first order has to be maintained in the second order which was passed after including the corrections to be made in the first order.

Justice Kothari directed the DC to produce the records of both the orders maintained by the stenographer before the Court. The DC had passed the second order without the presence of the petitioner. On observing this, Justice Kothari said that this is not acceptable.

The Bench then issued a stay on the FIR and departmental proceedings till further records are produced before the Court for verification on the next date of hearing.

The matter was adjourned to Dec. 14.
